#THISISMYPLACE

OUR SPECIAL WEEK IS COMING SOON!

Dear Parents and Carers,

We are excited to be holding our annual Special Week, #thisismyplace, later this half-term. Over three inspiring days, children will take part in a range of activities and experiences exploring the themes of myself, my school and my community. Together, we will be thinking about who we all are, belonging and the important role each of us plays in the world around us.

As part of the week, children will reflect on what makes them unique, celebrate what makes Cupernham such a special place to learn and consider how we can all make a positive contribution to our wider community. Through creative projects, discussion and collaborative learning, we hope to help every child develop an even stronger sense of belonging and pride in who they are.

We are delighted to be welcoming Caroline Nokes MP to school during the week, where she will be sharing insights into her role and how she serves our local community. This will be a fantastic opportunity for pupils to learn more about democracy, leadership and community involvement.

We would also love to hear from parents, carers and family members who work within our local community. Whether you work in healthcare, emergency services, local government, retail, hospitality, transport, charity work, education or any other community-facing role, we would be delighted to invite you into school to share a little about what you do and the difference your work makes. These real-life experiences help children understand the many ways people contribute to their communities and how we all belong.

If you would be interested in supporting #thisismyplace, please contact the school office. We would love to hear from you!
